

First Quarter, Spring Training.

As with all good Organizations MTH has taken the opportunity in the first Quarter of 2015 to organize, retool, train, and conduct research and development to improve our product and value to our customers. MTH is committed to Safety within our products and continues to produce the Highest Quality Camp. Our customer's wants and needs are always at the forefront of our efforts.

- Safety Training
- Shop layout and retooling
- Streamlined design and planning practices.
- Certification for 2 hour fire rated assemblies.

MTH Diversified Uses

When a project puts you in harsh environments, the possibilities of long commutes, makes for an even longer day. A safe and comfortable place to rest may be the competitive edge you need to complete your project on time and within budget.

- There's no better place to be when a phase 3 storm is fast approaching! MTH units are capable of withstanding 130 mph gusts while providing comfort and safety in any climate.
- Do you find your project needing a little more than the standard base of operations? Why not add a few comfort amenities and eliminate the long commute back home every night.

Certified Fire Rating

We took our standard design to the fire testing lab, and achieved a 2 hour fire Certification rating for our standard MTH modules. What does this mean for you? MTH modules are certified as two hour fire rated wall assembly between units. Our highly mobile designs are built to satisfy and exceed all Alaska State building codes.

Do you need a Camp? Need one Fast?

MTH provides highly mobile arctic suitable living facilities. Custom built to meet all of the client's criteria and delivering on time is the focus of our production efforts. We are able to manufacture top end facilities in Yakima Washington and have them operational and deployable WORLDWIDE in a short period of time.
